UBS Global Wealth Report 2025

 20 Sharp Takeaways

"The world is getting richer, but not equally, not everywhere, and not always for the reasons you'd expect."

1

Global wealth rose 4.6% in 2024, driven mostly by financial markets, not real estate.

2

The U.S. added over 1,000 millionaires a day last year, 379,000 in total.

3

Everyday Millionaires (EMILLIs) now hold $107T, more than quadruple since 2000.

4

North America and Eastern Europe led wealth growth in 2024.

5

Switzerland tops average wealth per adult at $687K; Luxembourg tops median wealth at $395K.

6

The U.S. and China hold over 54% of all personal wealth, two countries, half the world's pie.

7

Emerging markets have plateaued at ~30% of global wealth. That share hasn't changed since 2017.

8

The number of millionaires globally will grow by 5.3M by 2029.

9

Median wealth is rising faster than average wealth, signaling gains in middle-class segments.

10

Inequality persists: 1.6% of adults hold 48.1% of the world's wealth.

11

The $83 trillion wealth transfer is underway, with $9T shifting between spouses (mostly to women).

12

India, UAE, and Türkiye saw the fastest millionaire growth in 2024.

13 South Korea saw a 44% rise in average wealth per adult since 2020.
14
Financial assets drove most gains in 2024; real assets like property grew slower.
15
Billionaire numbers are rising, but most still sit below $50B.
16
Debt is highest in Finland and Switzerland, lowest in Türkiye and Saudi Arabia.
17
Western Europe is a wealth mosaic, growth rates vary wildly even within the eurozone.
18
Wealth ≠ income. High salary doesn't mean high wealth; savings, investing, and inheritance do.
19
Median wealth grew 45% in the U.S. since 2020, outpacing average growth.
20
The global wealth pyramid remains steep: Most people hold <$100K in net worth.
"You blink in Q4 and it is Christmas so make sure you are part of our journey and join us!"
